MICHAEL F. HENEGHAN, Chief Probation Officer, Family Court of Cook County (FCC), stated that according to instructions received by him from EDWARD J. HERAP, Chief Administrative Officer, FCC, he was making available the following information obtained from the legal files of the Cook County Circuit Court Clerk's Office, which relates to subject RUEY and his brothers and sisters:

HENEGHAN stated that JACOB RUBENSTEIN's legal record, Case Docket Number 90342, reflects he appeared in Juvenile Court, Chicago, on a dependency hearing, July 10, 1923, and that this was the first time his name appeared in court records. The petition which had been filed was to the effect that RUBENSTEIN, age 12, had not had proper parental care. At the time he was in custody of his mother, FANNIE RUBENSTEIN, 3347 Roosevelt Road. His father, JOSEPH RUBENSTEIN was residing at 1250 South Morgan. Judge H. STERLING POMEROY made a finding of dependency and appointed the Jewish Home Finding Society (JHFS) guardian with the right to place. The child's father was ordered to pay the Clerk of the Court $4 per week to be drawn by the JHFS. On November 21, 1924, MICHAEL W. CAGNEY (possibly a case worker) stated that the case be reopened. A rehearing before Judge VICTOR P. ARNOLD was held November 24, 1924. At the same time a second dependency petition was filed naming JACOB KEPES, who had become Superintendent of the JHFS, as having custody. Judge ARNOLD vacated all previous orders and set them aside. He continued the hearing on the new petition to December 8, 1924. The hearing on the second petition was further continued on the following dates: December 15, 1924, January 13 and 27, 1925, and April 7, 1925. On April 8, 1925, the hearing was continued "generally". HENEGHAN advised that continuing the hearing generally meant that for all intents and purposes the case had been closed. He further stated the effect of the action on November 24, 1924, would have been to return the child to its parents.

There was no additional information in the legal files concerning JACOB RUBENSTEIN, HENEGHAN stated.

With regard to HYMAN RUBENSTEIN's legal file, Docket Case Number 60011, who was age 14, on December 27, 1921, HENEGHAN stated that on May 1, 1916, a delinquency petition was filed in Juvenile Court to the effect that the boy was incorrigible. His parents were indicated as JACOB and FANNIE RUBENSTEIN, 1232 South Morgan, Chicago. The finding on the hearing was "delinquency" and HYMAN RUBENSTEIN was ordered placed on probation to live at the home of his mother who was in court that day. On February 14, 1918, Probation Officer LURA J. ROBIN recommended that the child be released from parole to live at the Baborah Boys Club, 5930 South Park Avenue. On February 20, 1918, Judge POMEROY signed a permanent discharge for HYMAN RUBENSTEIN.

With regard to the legal records concerning SAMUEL RUBENSTEIN, the brother of JACOB, Case Docket Number 90343, ISIDORE RUBENSTEIN, Case Docket Number 90341, and IDA RUBENSTEIN, Case Docket Number 90345, Mr. HENEGHAN advised that their files were identical in every respect but their names with that for JACOB RUBENSTEIN.

With regard to EVA RUBENSTEIN, Case Docket Number 93363, HENEGHAN stated that she first appeared in Juvenile Court on September 26, 1921, on a dependency hearing. She was indicated as 12 years of age at the time and her father, JOSEPH, resided at 1808 South Morgan, and her mother, FANNIE, resided at 3128 South Langfield. The hearing was continued to October 6, 1921, at which time LURA J. ROBIN was appointed EVA'S guardian with the right to place her. Her father was ordered to pay the Clerk of the Circuit Court $3 per week to be drawn by LURA J. ROBIN.

On March 23, 1926, a recommendation was made in Juvenile Court that the guardianship be removed and that EVA RUBENSTEIN was to be allowed to reside with Mrs. B. ZUCKERMAN, 1339 South Lawndale.

On April 21, 1926, Judge ARNOLD signed the release.
